SPECIAL NOTICE!!

If you are a collector or dealer, and have any "white elephants" cluttering up your collection or stock, here is your chance to dispose of them once and for all.

On classified listings of l column or more, I will accept a limited number of records or other material listed in Collectors' Exchange "wants" on back cover, value for value.

Send list of offerings, stating condition and price or exchange value, to Editor, 1227 North Jackson St., Fresno 2, California.

In line with our non-profit service policy to record collectors, it has been decided to continue the original charter membership fee of $2.00 per year, or $5.00 for three years.

The announcement that a raise in the membership fee was in order, was prompted by the extremely high cost of producing our club journal, which has been a major factor in causing the organization to operate in the "red" since its beginning. Since such a publication is indispensableto members of any record collectors organization, and no organization, non-profit or other-wise, can operate for long at a loss, the problem re-quired a quick solution. And since most of the expense is represented by the club journal, we concentrated our attention on the possibility of producing the journal at less cost and still maintain a high standard of interest and readability. A partial "prevue" of the solution is presented in this issue.

We feel that, temporarily at least, printing such ma-terial as discographies, check lists, etc., by mimeo-graph would help greatly to cut expenses. Most articles will continue to be printed by Multilith, as long as poss-ible, and the some restrictions will necessarily be im-posed governing the number and length of these artiposed governing the number and length of these articles, you can be sure that we will strive to give you the best record collector's journal that we can afford, Remember, this is only a temporary measure. As the club grows, so does your club journal.

DON'T FORGET - The Jimmie Rodgers Memorial Day in Meridian, Miss., on May 26th.

Mr. Kaplan, in his column "Record-O-Tape Alley," has again pointed an accusing finger at the record col-lecting fraternity, and the time has come for us to do something about this aggravating situation. I refer to the need for some sort of standardized system of record grading. This has been a constant source of confusion and frustration to all of us, and a concerted effort should be made to correct this bad situation by the universal adoption of such a system. And while we are at it, why not go a bit further and present an organized front against those who would violate these standards, by making known their identity and deeds to record collectors the world over?

Those whose membership expires with the Summer issue, will not want to miss the im-pressive list of "Personality" discographies we have ready for future issues. For example, in the Fall issue we will present discographies of such incomparables as Gene Austin and Fanny Brice. Although I seem to become busier each year, with increasingly little time for writing, I am genuinely glad to accept George Collings' invitation to contribute to the International Discophile.

the International Discophile. No doubt a great many readers already know I am the author of the "Favorite Pioneer Recording Artists" department in HOBBIES, to which I have sent material since January, 1942. I have also written for a great many other publications and am the official "musicol-ogist" (authority on old popular music) and "discologist" for VARIETY, "The Bible of Show Business, "which on January 4th published a 514-page Golden Anniversary edition. Two of my articles appeared in that issue. One represented an effort to choose the ten greatest popular songs of the past 50 years, but I wound up with 11. The other was a two-page history of the record industry for other was a two-page history of the record industry for the 1905-55 era.

My interest in records and recorded music begins with Edison's invention of the phonograph and ends some 50 years later, shortly after electrical recording was introduced. To pin-point it more exactly, I have little interest in anything that has happened in the recorded music field since Edison quitmaking records as of No-vember, 1, 1929. I don't collect LP's and no longer buy modern records. I am concerned with the historical interest, rather than the musical value, of old discs and cylinders, and I seldom have time to play records of any kind. Although I am sure I shall enjoy writing for the International Discophile, my contributions will not be a rival to my HOBBIES articles. Instead, they will sup-plement "Favorite Pioneer Recording Artists." I have often said that if both HOBBIES and I should be strong and healthy for the next hundred years, I have so much material that I could continue to fill my department with no trouble. It has been a source of worry to me that I have more to write about than a normal lifetime affords scope for publishing. Hence, my pleasure at placing some of my knowledge on permanent record in the pages of this publication. Sometimes what I write will not be touched on in HOBBIES. On the other hand, I may on occasion write something here which will later be discussed in HOBBIES at more length. Circumstances will govern my decisions, and only time will tell. Now, with that prelude out of the way, let's get down to the business of my first I-D contribution. Because of the significance of "International" I have decided to write this month about two pioneer phonograph publi-cations, issued around the turn of the century. One is THE PHONOGRAPH RECORD for May, 1899, published in New York, and the other, Volume 1, Number 1 of

THE PHONOGRAPH RECORD for May, 1899, published in New York, and the other, Volume 1, Number 1 of RECORDS, dated September 1900, and issued in London. The one copy of THE PHONOGRAPH RECORD which I have seen is Number 5 of Volume 5, which seems to indicate the first issue was January, 1895. It was pub-lished monthly by the Hall Music Company of 105 East 14th Street, New York, and the editor was Herbert H. Taylor. Just why it was called THE PHONOGRAPH RECORD is something of a mystery, since there is little phonograph advertising and most of the space is little phonograph advertising and most of the space is taken up with discussions of new sheet music. Editor Taylor was not above taking some cracks at

M. Cohan's first wife, Ethel Levey, who made some records for English companies in the 1920's: "Ethel Levey advertises herself as the idol of the New York music halls. Miss Levey sings in a manner that re-flects great credit upon her powers of physical endurflects greatcredit upon her powers of physical endur-ance and the good nature of her auditors. "

Then consider the following reference to a minstrel favorite, George "Honey Boy" Evans: "I wonder what has become of the original honey boy, little George Evans. It does not seem possible that New York aud-iences are tired of hearing "Standing On The Corner" and "I'll Be True To My Honey Boy." Georgie used to tell me that managers were so infatuated with his act that they wouldn't allow him to change it. Unless I hear from him soon, I shall believe he is in the old men's home. "Three years after that sarcastic squib appeared, George Evans teamed up with Ren Shields to write one George Evans teamed up with Ren Shields to write one of the great all-time hits, "In The Good Old Summertime.

Ambitious unknowns also came infor Taylor's compliments: "Delmar G. Palmer, a precocious youth with a vivid imagination sends me a piece entitled 'Alone.' Perhaps Mr. Palmer may be able to do worse, but I'm certain no one else can. I judge from the song that his best girl went back on him, and he was bent on revenge.''

And here is something of a more flattering nature: "Kerry Mills, composer of "At a Georgia Camp Meet-ing" and other well-known successes, has composed a song for the Sunday WORLD, entitled "When Dewey Comes Sailing Home." It is featured in the great spec-tacular production of "The Man In The Moon. "Eminent critics prediction of "The Man in The Moon." Eminent critics predict its unqualified success." The so-called "Phonograph News" occupies a column and a quarter. On the opposite page is an advertisement of the Lyric Phonograph Company, showing its feminine manager, Estella Louise Mann, making a record. Be-neath it is a display ad: "When Buying Records Do Not Overlook The Josh Weathersby Series by Cal. Stewart." Not much of the phonograph news is worth quating

Not much of the phonograph news is worth quoting. Here are a few items of some interest today:

"The Columbia Phonograph Company has opened a Berlin office. " "The Norcross Phonograph Company makes a specialty of Metropolitan band records, which are loud, clear, musical masters."

"The Polyphone Company, of 107 Madison Street, Chicago, are behind in orders for their machine which is said to be more than twice as loud as any other talking machine; and many times more musical. It is the perfection of sound reproduction."

"The Bettini Phonograph laboratory, 110 Fifth Ave., New York, advertise high grade records by world-famed artists." "The National Phonograph Company (Edison's firm) has removed to 135 Fifth Avenue, which is in the heart of the wholesale music trade district of New York City. With a greatly increased space at its command, the company will give more attention to its wholesale department. A complete stock will be carried and direct shipments will be made, thus insuring greater prompt-ness in the filling of all orders. "

Emma Calve's photograph is on the front cover of THE PHONOGRAPH RECORD, but apparently not because she had made any commercial records. I suspect the English publication, RECORDS, was really an advertising scheme of the Edison Bell Company, then the leading British manufacturer of cylinders. At any rate, the publication seemed to pay no attention to anybody else's product. Edison Belladvertised a "Special Parcel for Septem-ber, 1900, " and commented: "The 12 records named below are specially selected from our veryfinest pro-

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH LEROY CARR?

LOUIS BARNEWITZ

Who will tell me why the blues singer Leroy Carr

Who will tell me why the blues singer Leroy Carr always has been a step-child in the steadily growing azz literature? Where do we find a jazz writer or collector willing to remedy this neglect? Apart from discographical material, nothing has been written by any American jazz writer about this outstanding folk singer. Maybe you have read a short article which included a very important discography in "The Record Changer" of May 1947, written by the English collector and writer, Albert J. McCarthy, or an article in the English magazine "Jazz Journal" a couple of years ago. Besides, you may have had the opportunity of reading a few opinions expressed by a couple of contemporary American blues singers, but you are unable to look up as much as a single article dealing with Carr's biography. Not even Rudy Blesh took the trouble to mention any of Carr's recordings in his book, "Shining Trumpets." He mentions him in passing only, and calls him great. That's all! Such negligence is unpardonable. It was a great disappointment to me that Big Bill Broopzy, of all people, does not mention Carr in his autobiography, "Big Bill Blues. "In this connection, it is of interest to quote the remarks Big Bill made in "Jazz Record" (March 1946 issue): "I never worked with him but I think Leroy

"I never worked with him but I think Leroy Carr was the greatest blues singer I heard in my life. I know him from seeing him around and listening to him, and he was the best guy you ever met."

If it is correct that Big Bill has met Carr in person and listened to him, I wonder how he could write his book without mentioning this wonderful blues singer, even if his lyrically accentuated and relaxed singing was a kind of city blues far away from the primitive and untrained blues singing, which for example, Blind Lemon Jefferson was a typical exponent. Can this be the reason why American jazz writers so entirely ignore this fascinating interpreter of the blues? The guitarist Scrapper Blackwell accompanied Carr in his more than 120 recordings issued on the Vocalion In his more than 120 recordings issued on the Vocalion and Bluebird labels. His playing in these records places him among the most pleasing blues accompanists, and moreover his ensemble playing with the piano-playing Carr was taken as a model, and has been imitated by lots of piano-guitar duos with varying success. A great similarity in thought and musical expression must have been a condition for the splendid ensemble playing. As this amazing oneness is apparent already in their first this amazing oneness is apparent already in their first record, Carr's melodious composition, "How Long record, Carr's melodious composition, "How Long Blues," it seems safe to assume that they had been playing together long before 1928, the year they started recording for Vocalion.

Besides "How Long Blues, "which is one of the classic blues compositions and maybe Carr's most beautiful work, he has composed such tunes as "Blues Before Sunrise" and "When The Sun Goes Down, "His record-ings of these tunes as well as "Midnight Hour Blues" and "Alabama Woman Blues," belong to his very best vocal performances. "Muddy Water" should also be mentioned because of Blackwell's very exciting guitar accompaniment which is played with a growing rhyth-mical excitement. mical excitement.

The words in Carr's songs are not much different from the lyrical poetry in the blues sung by most of the blues singers from the South, but in Carr's melodious form of expression this simple and artless poetry seems to take on a deeper meaning. His intonation is often melancholy but never sentimental. I should think that the only objection against Carr may be that too many the only objection against Carr may be that too many of his songs and compositions were built on the same themes. He often used the same theme three or four

RECORD-O-TAPE ALLEY

MAX KAPLAN'S

In the past year, record and tape collecting, inter-nationally speaking, has progressed to a point where almost anything available in any corner of the world can be obtained; sometimes at some extra research and higher expense, but most important, within the reach of collectors. For example, the legendary piano work of Adelina De Lara, last living pupil of Clara Schumann, has been taped and at the present time, efforts are being made to have them released in record form. Thus, closer international relations between collectors will add these gems to the collector's reach before it is too late. Adelina De Lara is past eighty, and still maintains her remarkable clarity and tech-nique; truly a last bridge to the perfectionism of the Schwarz acheel Schumann school.

This example is typical of what international cooper-ation can bring about, and the attendant boom in inter-national record exchanging is truly encouraging, for the "personality" collector especially. For example, records by Fred and Adele Astaire on American labels are particularly rare, yet in England their records turn up frequently. And what personality collector can deny the desire to add to their collection, at least one item from the performances of such greats as Evelyn Laye, Jack Buchanan, Arthur Tracy and Maurice Chevalier. The inclusion of the last two artists may raise an eyebrow or two, as many of their records are available here, but there is an exception. Arthur Tracy, in the early thirties enjoyed a phenominal boom here, yet, unfortunately recorded little. When he moved to England little was heard from him, altho he has enjoyed two decades of popularity in Europe. Consequently, dozens of his records are available there, and can be obtained without too much difficulty. As for Maurice Chevalier, his records of the early thirties are also available here, tho now becoming a bit difficult to obtain. Only a half the new generation the Chevalier that was, and still is.

the new generation the Chevalier that was, and still is. A wonderful performer, and great personality! A most worthy enterprise, it seems from this corner, would be a Chevalier discography, which to my knowledge, has never been published. Today in England there is a tremendous amount of interest in "Jazz Clubs" who meet monthly to listen to their own members and embryonic jazz groups play, and as a result, its popularity has reached such pro-portions that a once minor British label, Esquire Rec-ords, has blossomed into international prominence with a thrilling series of jazz records featuring some of a thrilling series of jazz records featuring some of these groups.

Local jazz clubs unfortunately, have never been too Local jazz clubs unfortunately, have never been too popular here in the United States, with some notable exceptions, of course. In 1946, yours truly organized a recording jazz group and had marked success initially, but interest gradually waned until finally the group dis-banded. Yet in the interval of time this group was in existence, some wonderful spontaneous jazz was re-corded that had a flavor the so called "Jazz Concerts" of today cannot approach. The commercialized aspect of these jazz concert tours have, it seems to me, taken from jazz the spontaniety and spark of the impromptu from jazz the spontaniety and spark of the impromptu settings and musical combinations. Thus, if we are to bring a fresh view and sound to the American jazz scene we should emulate our English cousins and encourage the formation of jazz clubs on both local and national levels.

What has surprised me in the international recording scene is the dearth of small recording companies in Europe. Here in the United States, believe it or not, there are in excess of 1500 recording companies, ranging from one room firms to the multi-million dollar corporations. However, within the next year or two, there should spring up in Europe, England in particular, many small recording firms, and these cannot help but bring improved recording and artistic standards. That competition breeds better products is a well known axiom, and in the case of the phonograph record industry, has been well tested and proven. When there were only a handful of major recording companies in the U. S., much of their record output at times became routine and unimaginative. In the sphere of recorded music this becomes very dull, and could prove disas-trous to a recording company. However, thru the competitive force exerted by the many smaller labels that sprang up from time to time, the larger companies adopted many new ideas and innovations the smaller companies could not duplicate. Today we enjoy the fruition of these ideas in such things as virtually unbreakable records, Long Play records of all kinds, and superlative recording and fidelity techniques. Who knows what tomorrow will bring?

Since our last issue, Rococo Records of Toronto, Canada, have released on LP's many wonderful operatic solos of the past, and has an even broader schedule for the future. More power to them!

ule for the future. More power to them! Now to a subject that is always dear to my heart, and always shall be -- record hunting! True, in these times this pastime has all but disappeared from the realm of practicability, but to those who still wish to venture forth and try their luck, here are a few sug-gestions. First, to the residents of our larger cities, it is practically a waste of time to make the rounds of second hand shops, Salvation Army stores, etc., as these sources have been squeezed dry for many years, and the occasional possibility of locating anything of compensating value is hardly worth the effort. However, smaller cities, preferably 25,000 to 100,000 population, still offer some hope to the collector, inasmuch as they still offer some hope to the collector, inasmuch as they have not been overworked by the "travelling" record hunter. (Oh yes, many collectors who are more abun-duntly blessed with time and money than most of us, are familiar figures in the usual haunts of the record collectors, coast to coast.) I recall one collector who as an employee of a southern railroad, used his free transportation priveleges and vacation periods to visit a string of large cities in search of records.

Secondly, second hand furniture men in the smaller cities are less likely to be aware of true record values as are his counterpart in the larger cities. I know many of these men who probably never heard a Galli Curci record, yet they know such records are of some value to collectors. To illustrate this; recently, while looking for records in Trenton, N. J., some thirty miles from my native hearth, I came across a second hand furni-ture store proprietor who had been accumulating records in his cellar for many years, and I spent several hours going thru the collection. I could readily see that a jazz collector had long ago taken the more desirable material, but there remained much truly fine Amato, Chaliapin and Sembritch material, as well as a large group of Caruso records. After choosing some thirty records from the lot, I was told the price of the Caruso items were $1.50 each, while other Red Seals were 50¢ each. Apparently, the gentleman thought that Caruso records were the only rare and valuable items, and

QUEEN OF THE HONKY TONK PLANO

LARRY F. KINER

It is quite rare when a member of the female populus offers something of interest to "jazz" enthusiasts. How-ever, in the great Pacific Northwest, there is one such person, MARGE WHALEY, currently billed as the "Queen Of The Honky Tonk Piano." Marge was born in South Dakota, and later moved to California and finally to Washington, where she made Seattle her home. There she studied under the well known exponent of classical piano, Paul Pierre McNeely, at the Mary Ann Wells Dance School in Seattle.

In 1936 she was a musician on Alaska line steamers where she played the saxophone. That same fall she started in radio on KJR, and KOMO, where she was billed as the "Northwest's Kate Smith". She was married in 1938 to George Whaley, in Nome, Alaska, She is the mother of two children, aged 5 and 7.

After the honeymoon, Marge returned to Seattle where she was an entertainer in an all-girl orchestra. She was a member of a three piece orchestra which played for five years at various night spots, clubs and hotels, and where she sang commercially.

Her recording career started while she was playing piano at a party where Mr. and Mrs. Harold Femling, of Northwest Tempo Distributing Company, heard her and exclaimed, "Goodnight--when you can play and sing like that why do you worry about selling your songs, gal, you've got talent to sell, " "Let's get some of that on records and fast", Mrs. Femling continued.

Femling continued. "I was leaving for Annette (Alaska) in a few days so nothing could be done about it, but when I hit town for the Christmas holidays, the Femlings arranged a meeting with Jack Rivers, who was recording for JR Ranch, and he decided to put me on record. " "Then Electricraft decided to put out their own label and as my contract was with Electricraft itself, I was on Listen label from then on. It is very interesting to see different public reactions to each record, and the future ones will be more honky-tonk piano and Sophie Tucker stuff. This is definitely my style".

Robert Q. Lewis wrote Electricraft on "I Wanna Say Hello", and commented on Marge's voice, and said he liked the record very much. In the June 21, 1952 issue of Billboard, Marge's re-cording of "No, No, No, Don't Stop Now" and "It Don't Mean A Thing" was given a very good rating. Marge plays a combination Fats Waller and Frank Froeba piano style that is most interesting and enjoy-able. Her recording of "Wabash Blues" -- a piano solo is truly a masterpiece of jazz piano playing and should be in every record collectors collection.

In addition to being an accomplished pianist and a vocalist, she is also a talented composer and author. Her song titled, "Seattle Song", was written for Greater Seattle, Inc., for the Seattle Centennial, and although quite commercial, is a good piece of work. Another song, "Paper To Burn", is under contract with the Acuff-Rose Publishing Company. For anyone interested, Marge's recordings may be purchased from Listen Inc., 622 Union Street, Seattle 1, Washington.

tho he exhibited some knowledge of what constituted good records, he did not have a thoro understanding of their intrinsic value. I also recall that this fellow had the largest group of John McCormack records I have ever seen; a veritable treasure trove for the Mc-Cormack collector.

As a final topic of discussion, and one that is the thorn in nearly every collector's side, I must make some comment on the confusion among record collectors resulting from the flagrant abuse of even the unstable grading standards that exist. In spite of the inadequacy of such "standards," some collectors are prone to make a bad condition worse by "splitting hairs" in grading their records. One particular list I received recently, furnished a good example of this nonsense. For the condition "Good" there were these breakdowns: "Very Good Plus," slight surface; "Very Good, " slight surface, small clicks, hum; "Good, " medium surface; "Somewhat Good, " medium surface, small clicks, hum; "Just Good, " surface, with foreign clicks and hum. Thus we find six different grades of "Good" alone, or a total of thirty different ratings possible from "Poor" to "Excellent, " To me, this is an utter waste of time, and an example of its nonsensical possibilities is presented when, for instance, even an accidental sliding of the needle across the surface would mean a downgrading of the record condition. With the improved techniques in recording and super-sensitive hi-fi reproduction, our grading standards are in line for an "overhauling," and particularly, standardization, but the cause is not helped by the collector who draws too fine a line in his grading efforts.

He was one of the stars in the recent London success, "The Belle of New York, " a fact which assures him to be a great artist. WALTZ - "JOLLY BROTHERS," (Apparently the same thing as "Jolly Fellows.") By the London Concert Orchestra. This waltz is familiar to those who have visited the famous Continental resorts, such as Monte Carlo, Nice, &c, where it is played with great success by the large orchestras. The waltz is well known by the whistling theme which is supposed to represent the Jolly Brothers returning home after a night's "racket." The clock strikes four, the cock crows, the boys whistle, and the waltz ends with a brilliant, dashing movement. (This was the stage theme song of the veteran Australian comedian, Albert Whelan, long an idol of the London music halls. -- J. W.)

DUET FROM"FLORADORA, ""I MUST LOVE SOME-ONE," By MISS (ALMA) JONES and MR. (ERIC) FARR. Owing to the phenomenal success of the duet from the "Belle of New York" (by Miss Jones and Mr. Farr) we have concluded to add the above popular selection to our catalogue. "Floradora" was one of the three London hits of last season. The duet, "I Must Love Someone," is one of the gems of the opera.

COMIC SONG, "MUST YOU," by MR. HARRY BLUFF. "Must You" is familiar to those who frequent the London Halls, where it is being sung with great success. Mr. Bluff sings the song with a dry humor that is irresistibly funny. The dialogue is very witty, the melody very catching, and we feet that we can candidly recommend it to our patrons who want a laugh for little money.

it to our patrons who want a laugh for little money. SAXOPHONE SOLO, "SWISS AIR," by MR. JOHN TYLER. In offering these records to our friends we feel that we merit their approval as we have exercised great care in recording them and made continuous experiments to produce a loud cylinder from this instrument, which is famous for its sweet, human tone. Owing to its peculiar combination of reed and brass it is very difficult to record, but after continued exertions we are pleased to say that we have met with excellent results. Mr. Tyler is a renowned London artist. His work is of the highest standard.

SELECTION OF IRISH MELODIES. Full of the most rollicking Irish music. Should be heard to be appreciated. Particularly clear and sharp. Good for exhibition purposes.

bition purposes. PATRIOTIC MARCH, "DUBLIN FUSILIERS" and "WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE IRISH NOW?" (on one cylinder). By the London Regimental Band. The two titles are self-explanatory and speak for themselves. As regards the first, no Englishman can forget the gallant Irish boys who are fighting in South Africa, and there can be but one answer to the question of the second. We think they are an honor to the British Empire. The two melodies, as played by the band, are well known and deservedly popular. This record always wins applause.

RECITATION, "WHAT PADDY GAVE THE DRUM." By MR. RUSSELL HUNTING. This recitation is a version of Michael Nolan's song of the same title. As Mr. Hunting is well known as "Michael Casey," he thinks that there should be a family feeling between the two "Mikes" and has therefore used Mr. Nolan's song to excellent advantage in adapting it as a recitation.

PIANOFORTE SOLO, "ALICE, WHERE ART THOU?" by MISS LILLIAN BRYANT. The above solo has been selected because everybody is familiar with the melody of this old song and will, therefore, appreciate the wonderful variations which Miss Bryant adds to the original theme. Miss Bryant is the well known London pianist, who is so frequently heard at leading concerts. She is recognized by such artistes as Mmes. Albani and Emma Eames to be the best lady pianist in London. She was recently engaged to play at a concert given by the soloists of the Opera Comique, Paris.

THE SHADE OF THE PALM. By MR. ERIC FARR. A record of the popular song from "Floradora." Mr. Farr's ability is fully illustrated in this selection. We can justly say that his rendering of this song compares favorably with the original in the caste. Some of Mr. Farr's enthusiastic admirers claim that his talents are shown to better advantage in this song than in any other of his recent efforts.

PICCOLO SOLO, "LIGHT AND FREE," By MR. JAMES WILLCOCKE. Mr. Willcocke is a member of the Queen's Hall Orchestra, and an instructor at Kneller Hall. These facts are enough to recommend him to our patrons, but in addition to his reputation as an artist his phonograph work recommends itself. The selection mentioned above is an illustration of marvelous execution, brilliant technique and wonderful tone. The record never fails to please.

On page 10, the following notice appeared: "THE PAST MONTH'S DOINGS. SOME OF THE RECORDS ADDED TO OUR LIST, Records marked with an asterisk (*) can be supplied for the large or "Phonograph Grand" machine. It would take too much space to list here a recapitulation of the "Last Month's" records. The artists were largely the same as those who have already been mentioned. It is odd, however, to find Harry Bluff singing in 1900 a song called "The Lambeth Walk." I hadn't realized either, that Vesta Victoria's hit, "He Calls Me His Own Grace Darling," (here recorded by Bluff) was so old.

Most of the performers mentioned in this Edison Bell list were popular for a number of years afterward. Songs by Alma Jones and Eric Farr continued to be well received through the early 1900's. Russell Hunting of course was the American comedian who became a recording expert for Edison Bell, later joined with Sir Lewis Sterling to found the Russell Hunting Record Company, which made the Sterling Record, and still later was European recording expert for Pathe before returning to New York and becoming Pathe's American recording manager in 1914. Harry Bluff, like Hunting, was an Edison Bell expert as well as a comedian. As for Lillian Bryant, she later became conductor of the Pathe Symphony Orchestra in London, and married George Baker, the popular English recording baritone, whose first record making engagement was with Pathe.

whose first record making engagement was with Pathe. So that's that for this time. In quoting from these old publications, I have followed their styles of spelling, capitalizing and punctuation. times (perhaps even more; Iam not familiar with more than half of his production), and even if he chose different titles for his records and used different words, it tends to make his repertory slightly monotonous. Nevertheless, it is an incomplete collection that does not have some of Leroy Carr's recordings, and for my part, I feel that he ought to have a seat in the Library Of Congress, side by side with America's finest folk creators!

May I finally express a hope for a Long Play record comprising some of Carr's best recordings. There is no doubt that such a record would fulfill the wish of record collectors the world over, and at the same time it would widen the knowledge of the performances of one of the best blues artists who ever existed.

ments, announcements, information, etc., of a general nature to other collectors and discographers. Another feature of the department will be a review of the catalogs, sales and want lists received by us. This service should mean a larger mailing list, more sales, and sources of supply (we hope), to all members. All material to be considered for the Summer issue

All material to be considered for the Summer issue must be in our hands not later than June 15th. Remember, it's another service of ID, and costs you nothing.

In case you are wondering what happened to the "Question Box", we are sorry to report that answers to the current questions submitted by members had not been received at press time. We are making an effort to get the answers for you, and we hope to have them in the next issue. In the meantime, keep the questions coming in, and if we don't have the answer, we will do our best to get it for you.

We regret to report that the demand for back copies of ID have been so great that the supply of both issues have been exhausted.

We have a limited number of discographies of Eddie Cantor, Jimmie Rodgers, Sophie Tucker and Ruth Etting and Harlan Lattimore as they appeared in the pages of ID. While the supply lasts, copies may be had for 50¢ each, which includes current additions and corrections.

BENGT HALLBERG

Bengt Hallberg, jazz pianist, composer and arranger; born September 13, 1932, in Gothenburg, Sweden. Interest in music originated on piano, and he began his musical studies (classical music) early. Entered upon his professional career with Thore Jederby in 1943. From the year 1949 he has been playing with Kenneth Fagerlund's Orchestra in Gothenburg. In March 1950, when the famous Stan Getz toured Sweden, Hallberg accompanied Getz. He left the jazz field in 1954, and entered the Musical Academy in Stockholm to study classical music. Hallberg is still busy recording in Stockholm, and tours Sweden together with the Almstedt-Lind Quartet during his vacations. The following name discography contains re-cords not included in SJD. For a complete listing up to 1953, see "Svensk Jazz Diskografi," compiled by Harry Nicolausson (Nordiska Musikforlaget, Regerings-gatan 35, Stockholm, Sweden). gatan 35, Stockholm, Sweden).
